

Antelope Valley has the most access to green space while the Metro region has the least

Indicator: Impervious land cover is defined as the percentage of impervious surfaces in an area, e.g., asphalt, concrete, and other surfaces that contribute to heat stress, out of all land cover. Data Source: Catalyst California's calculations of Multi-Resolution Land Characteristics Consortium, National Land Cover Database data and Census 2020 youth population estimates.